THE SOUTH-CAROLINA AND COUNTRY GAZETTE; JOURNAL,

Containing the freſheſt Advices, both Foreign and Domeſtic.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1769.

LONDON, OCTOBER 27.

A LETTER from Liſbon to a gentleman in York adviſes, that the Hon. Mr. Lyttleton applies cloſely to the buſineſs of this nation, and that it was expected ſomething favourable might be acceded to in regard to our loſt privileges, and ſomething new granted; that he had got the affair of the actions (as mentioned lately) laid aſide, by which the Engliſh had been obliged to take them in payment for goods, which, as they were not tranſferable, and the companies there not on a good baſis, would have been of great detriment to the trade of this kingdom; and that the greateſt harmony ſubſiſted between the two courts in every thing but that of commercial intereſt, which, by repeated neglects at home, has been ſuffered to be broken through and almoſt given up.

It is thought that ſeveral perſons will be ordered from America, to give an account of their conduct to an auguſt aſſembly.

On Thurſday the 21ſt inſtant, died, at Windſor, the honourable Robert Brudenell, ſecond brother to the duke of Montagu, colonel of the 4th regiment of foot, vice-chamberlain to the Queen, Lieutenant-Governor of Windſor-caſtle and member of parliament for Marlborough.

NOVEMBER 5. Notwithſtanding what has been ſaid to the contrary, we are well aſſured, that the honourable James Grenville, and the honourable Iſaac Barré, are to be continued joint vice-treaſurers of Ireland.

WAR-OFFICE, November 8. Lieutenant-general ſir Jeffery Amherſt is appointed to be colonel of the 3d regiment of foot, or the Buffs, in the room of major-general Ralph Burton, deceaſed. Lieutenant-general Studholme Hodgſon, to be colonel of the 4th (or the King's own) regiment of foot, in the room of colonel Robert Brudenell, deceaſed. Lieutenant-general ſir Jeffery Amherſt, to be colonel in chief of the 60th, or Royal American regiment of foot. The honourable colonel William Howe, to be Lieutenant-Governor of the Ile of Wight, in the room of colonel John Mompaſſon, deceaſed. Lieutenant-colonel John Maxwell, of the 20th regiment of foot, to be Captain of Cowes-Caſtle, in the Iſle of Wight, in the room of colonel Robert Brudenell, deceaſed. Lieutenant Thomas Woolridge, from half pay, to be fort-adjutant and barrack-maſter of Fort St. Auguſtine in North-America, vice Nicholas Power, who exchanges.

LONDON, November 10. We hear that this morning an expreſs was ſent off to Falmouth, containing ſome diſpatches of importance for his excellency general Gage, commander in chief of the forces in North-America, to be forwarded on board one of the government cutters.

NOVEMBER 12. It is ſaid, that the Spaniards are making ſome preparations which ſufficiently indicate their intentions, the firſt favourable opportunity that offers.

NOVEMBER 15. It is ſaid Colonel Grant is appointed to the 63d regiment in the room of major General Marcus Smith, deceaſed; and that Lieutenant colonel Jervas Remington, kiſſed his Majeſty's hand on Friday, on being appointed to the 43d regiment of foot.

NOVEMBER 18. Yeſterday died in the 76th year of his age, his grace Thomas-Pelham Holles, duke of Newcaſtle upon Tyne, duke of Newcaſtle under Line, Marquis of Clare, &c. &c.

NOVEMBER 21. Letters from Pekin, by the Dutch mail, bring an account of many recent revolutions in the empire of China, and in the kingdoms of Bengala, or Bracma, Pegu, Siam, Cochinchina, and Tunkin. The King of Bengala, or Bracma, has gained twenty-eight battles, the moſt bloody of which was fought in the month of October, 1767. Twenty thouſand Tartars were ſlain in this battle, and amongſt them the generaliſſimo of the Chineſe troops, who married a daughter of the reigning emperor. The report of this fatal day ſpread ſuch a terror throughout the province of Yun Nan, one of the richeſt in China, that moſt of the inhabitants put themſelves to death without waiting for the enemy. The women eſpecially threw themſelves into rivers and wells, and both men and women were ſeen hanging up in ſtoals; upwards of 100,000 Chineſe, it was computed, having preferred the act of ſuicide to the more cruel and painful deaths which their terrors and imaginations had made them to expect.

NOVEMBER 22. By ſome late converſation it is very evident this country will remain in peace with all Europe; and that the meaſures of adminiſtration will tend to bring about harmony with our colonies, upon the principles of a well-regulated commerce, on which alone (joined with union and harmony at home) all our happineſs depends.

By Letters from Warſaw, dated November 2, we learn, that the news of the Ruſſian ambaſſador's being ſent to priſon by the Ottoman Porte, and their declaration of war againſt Ruſſia, had thrown the whole city into the utmoſt conſternation and dread, leſt new confederacies ſhould now be formed, and further outrages committed.

This morning an expreſs was ſent off from the admiralty-office to the commiſſioners of Portſmouth and Plymouth docks.

They write from Konigſberg in Germany, that that city and its environs are filled with Poliſh ladies, and other Refugees, from all Parts of Poland, for fear of falling into the hands of ſome or other of the parties, that are continually ravaging that country. Theſe refugees are ſo numerous, that it is impoſſible to find lodgings for them all in that city and other towns thereabout, ſo that many are obliged to take up with apartments at the houſes in the country.

NOVEMBER 24. A letter from a gentleman in the East-Indies to his friend in London, ſays, "Our ſhip, with two more of the company's, having lain for three months in one of the principal harbours in China, waiting for our cargo; a few of our ſhip's crew made a party, and imprudently forced themſelves into one of their cities, merely through a fooliſh curioſity; when the Chineſe put them all to death, becauſe they never ſuffer any of their arts to be laid open to any Europeans whatever. After this act of cruelty, they ſeized one of our ſhips, and the reſt were glad to get out of the harbour without loading, &c.

The court of directions of the East-India company have appointed colonel John Smith, who commands their forces on the coaſt of Coromandel, and colonel Richard Smith, who commands them at Bengal, to the ranks of brigadier-generals in their ſervice.

In the year 1739, the Spaniards declared war againſt Great-Britain, in order to give France leiſure to prepare herſelf; the laſt time, France ſtruck the firſt blow, and Spain finiſhed. It is now ſaid, that while France is preparing, the court of Spain is to amuſe us with a declaration of war, though perhaps it will not be a diverſion in their favour.

The Elector Palatine being in a declining way, the Dutchies of Juliers and Bergues will be diſputed by the King of Pruſſia; and France being engaged to guaranty that ſucceſſion to the reigning duke of Deaux-ponts, ſucceſſor to the elector, who, in return, gives up his Dutchies in Alſace to France; this, moſt probably, will occaſion a war on the Lower Rhine.

Ruſſia, Poland, and the Turks, are already embroiled; China and Tartary no leſs ſo; hoſtilities ſeem beginning in Africa and the Eaſt-Indies. Query, How long will Great-Britain be out of the ſcrape?

It is not more ſurprizing than true, that our good friend and ally the King of Sardinia conſented to the French taking poſſeſſion of Corſica, for which he is to poſſeſs certain provinces on the Barrearan [illegible]

NOVEMBER 26. A letter from a French officer in Corſica ſays, "Paoli perſuades his followers, that France, has on the inſtances of the court of England, agreed to ſend but a ſmall limitted number of troops hither; ſo that it will be always eaſy for him to make head againſt them. He has juſt put under arreſt his ſecretary Mattei, the ſon of the chancellor, having diſcovered that he held a correſpondence with the Marquis de Chauvelin. The nation has more confidence in Paoli than ever; his ſoldiers have ſixteen ſols per day; and many of ours who have deſerted and joined him, have afterwards come to plunder us. The Marquis de Chauvelin is obliged to grant a ration of bread to the officers, who are in want of every thing, and who are forced to march on foot, and to bear even more fatigue than the common ſoldiers."

Yeſterday Mr. Steare, publiſher of the North-Briton Extraordinary, No. 4, was called to the bar of the Court of King's-Bench, in order to receive ſentence; when after a very learned ſpeech from the Bench on the nature and tendency of the ſaid number, he was ſentenced to ſuffer three months impriſonment.

Some changes in the miniſtry are confidently talked of.

We are aſſured that a thorough reconciliation has taken place between the right honourable the Earls of Temple and Chatham, and yeſterday the former dined with the latter at his ſeat at Hayes, near Bromley in Kent.

The right honourable Mr. George Grenville, it is ſaid, will ſoon be appointed chancellor of the exchequer.

His Majeſty went yeſterday to the Houſe of Peers, and gave the royal aſſent to the Bill for prohibiting, for a further limitted time, the exportation of corn, grain, meal, malt, flour, bread, biſket and ſtarch, and alſo the extraction of ſpirits from low wines.

It has been talked of, that a bill of pains and penalties is preparing, and will be propoſed, together with another to diſqualify a certain patriot, or rather martyr to liberty, forever again holding place or honour. This it is confidently ſaid, is the mode that is at preſent intended to be purſued in caſe he fails in a certain point ſoon to be determined; but that the thoughts of an expulſion is thrown aſide.

NOVEMBER 29. Several important changes in the adminiſtration are again talked of as ſpeedily to take place, of which it is ſaid the following are the chief. The earl of Chatham to be Secretary of State for the ſouthern department. Earl Temple, Preſident of the Council. Marquis of Rockingham, firſt Lord of the Treaſury. Right Honourable Mr. Dowdeſwell, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Right Honourable George Grenville, Eſq; Secretary of State. Edmund Bourke, Eſq; Secretary to the Marquis of Rockingham. And, it is ſaid, the Earl of Shelburne will be appointed Ambaſſador to the Court of France.

A petition was this day preſented to a great perſonage, in favour of a certain popular ſtate priſoner.

DECEMBER 1. We hear that the right Hon. the Earl of Egmont has been ſent for to St. James's, and that he was afterwards deſired to attend the Cabinet Council.

The E— of C——m has ſtrongly declared his diſapprobation of any intended meaſures to expel Mr. W——s.

We are informed, that immediate liberty has been again promiſed lately, and ſome doceurs likewiſe offered, on condition of ſtopping all law proceedings againſt a certain great man; but the acceptance of them has been declined on account of the promiſe made to the public; and of the enquiry very ſoon to be entered on relative to the party confined.

The petition of a popular member was yeſterday (and not before) delivered into his M——y's own hands, by Sir Joſeph Mawbey, Bart.

The following is now a frequent toaſt among the genuine ſons of liberty, viz. the glorious three; Mr. Bourke, as the greateſt orator on behalf of liberty, in the houſe; Mr. Wilkes, as the greateſt patriot out of the houſe; and Mr. Serjeant Glynn, as the honeſteſt lawyer.

DECEMBER 3. The Venetians, we are told, are taking every neceſſary precaution to guard againſt a ſurprize on the part of the Turks, as it appears, from undoubted authority, there have not been ſuch preparations for war this century paſt, as at preſent, throughout the Turkiſh dominions, which makes the Italian politicians conjecture there is another object in view beſides their declaration againſt the Ruſſians.

It was rumoured this morning that moſt of the M——ry are of opinion, that the people of America ſhould be obliged to ſubmit to the authority of the Mother Country; That Great-Britain ſhould by no means embroil herſelf by aſſiſting Corſica; That no meaſures ſhould be taken or any influence uſed to prevent a certain gentleman taking his ſeat.

The popular affair that was to be taken into conſideration by an auguſt aſſembly, before whom a conſiderable number of people were ordered to attend, is poſtponed to Monday ſen'night, the 22th inſtant, on account of the indiſpoſition of a material evidence.

It is now very confidently affirmed, that the popular ſtate priſoner will in a few days receive a pardon, but not through the mediation of any miniſter.

We are informed that the friends of Mr. Wilkes have declared to a number of great perſons, that he deſires no favour to be ſhewn him, if he does not prove the truth of every allegation in a late petition.

POLITICAL MANŒUVRES.

November 25, 1768.

IN conſequence of repeated ſolicitations on the part of the Earl of Chatham, a moſt cordial, firm, perpetual union this day took place, with his noble brother-in-law Earl Temple. It is not doubted that this friendſhip will produce the moſt ſolid advantages to the public, whoſe intereſts have, ſince thoſe noble Lords were jointly in office, been occaſionally betrayed and neglected. Mr. Grenville has heartily acceded to this union; ſo that it may be preſumed, there are now the faireſt hopes of ſeeing this country reſcued from the ſtorm that for ſome years has been gathering with a moſt threatning aſpect. In like manner, previous to the late war, when by ignorance, folly, and corruption, the public affairs were reduced to the moſt deplorable ſituation, this family, and this family only, reſcued the kingdom from the fate that ſeemed inevitably to await it; and from being the moſt abject and deſpicable, it became, in their hands, the moſt powerful and reſpectable nation upon the face of the globe.

BASTIA, September 30.

THE French diſplayed the vanity of their nation upon taking poſſeſſion of this town in the name of their ſovereign. The front of the town-houſe was hung with tapeſtry, and the windows ſplendidly illuminated with wax lights. On a pavilion of damaſk were the arms of France, and under them the following inſcription: "Ludovico XV. Franco-"rum, Navarræ et Corſorum, Regi Chriſtianiſſimo, Auctia "Imperii Finibus, Tranquillitate publica aſſerta, Auguſto, "Pacifico, Felici, Magiſtratus Populuſque Baſtionſis, Fau-"ſtis Auſpiciis, Plaudebant." There were alſo two oval compartments with gilded cornices. In the one on the right hand was the ſun with this motto, Imbres & nubila vincit. In the one on the left hand was Corſica, and upon its higheſt mountain three lillies with this motto, Et Cyrno creſcite Flores.

ROSTINO, October 30. Our late victory over the French has given us great ſpirits. Signor Clementi de Paoli, brother to our illuſtrious general, ſhewed a conduct equal to his uncommon fortitude. And the general himſelf behaved with that maſterly intrepidity which becomes the commander of a nation. Courage is not wanting to the Corſicans and to their chief. But what can we do, if oppreſſed by the whole power of France? We can hardly think it poſſible that all the powers of Europe will ſtand tamely by, and ſee us maſſacred, becauſe we are defending our liberties.

PISA, November 22. The laſt action between the French and Corſicans, at Borgo, has coſt the former 1800 men. Monſ. de Caleot, colonel of the regiment of Rodergue, who was taken priſoner, has obtained permiſſion from Paoli, to repair on his parole of honour to the French camp, in order to treat about an exchange of priſoners. The other French officers, who are captives, dine with Paoli every day, and are treated with abundance of civility. The Corſican chief, indeed behaves with great modeſty and moderation amidſt all his ſucceſſes, and has lately given a new inſtance of diſintereſtedneſs and regard to the ſtate, by melting down all his plate for the ſervice of the public.

HAMBURGH, November 8. Private letters from Moldavia ſay, that the new Grand Vizir is already marched at the head of 80,000 men, in order to paſs the Neiſter; and that the Grand Seignor has ſent to know of the king of Poland, why he ſuffers foreign troops in his territories, and whether he intends permitting them to continue there, or drive them out?

PARIS, November 11. The laſt advices from Corſica bring, that Paoli having ſignified, by writing, that he was ready to join in an exchange of priſoners, the Marquis de Chauvelin rejected this propoſal, as made by one whom he could not acknowledge to be veſted with a lawful power of making it, and therefore requires the nation to nominate and authorize deputies to treat upon this ſubject with thoſe who ſhall be nominated on his part. In the mean time the French priſoners are but very poorly off, not being able to accommodate themſelves to their ordinary food, which conſiſts of cheſnuts without bread. The Marquis de Marbœf, who has been lately advanced to the rank of Lieutenant-general, is not yet recovered of the wounds he received in the action of Borgo.

CONFINES OF POLAND, November 8. According to advices from Warſaw, Prince Repnin, the Ruſſian ambaſſador, has ſent off his baggage for Courland under a ſtrong eſcort, and, it is imagined his Excellency himſelf will withdraw as ſoon as the Turks ſhall enter Poland. We know not yet what ſteps the king will take, but never was a prince, who ſought the good of his ſubjects, more embarraſſed.

For theſe two days paſt there have been extraordinary movements at court. The king ſometimes confers with his own miniſters and the ſenators, and at other times with prince Repnin. The latter too is perpetually ſending away courier upon courier to his court, for inſtructions how to act in the preſent juncture.

CORSICA, October 26. Four battalions of French troops having landed a few days ſince in the port of Figeri, at a ſmall diſtance from St. Bonifacio, in order to re-enforce the garriſon of that place, the Corſicans having intelligence of it, ſurrounded them in the mountains, and after killing a great number, made the reſt priſoners.

LEGHORN, October 28. They write from Corſica, that Paoli has retaken the important poſt of Furiani from the French.

NAPLES, October 25. On the 20th of this month 6000 of our troops were put in march, in order to aſſemble under the command of field-marſhal Tſchudi, in the province of Aquila, on the confines of the Pope's territories, from whence they are to paſs over to Rieti, and from there again into the country of Ronciglione, while the troops at Orbitello will take poſſeſſion of Caſtro. It is aſſured, however, that the peaſants of thoſe territories have declared, that they will murder every foreign ſoldier that ſhall invade them, and that they will treat them as they formerly did the Spaniards and the Germans, with whoſe blood they made their rivers ſwell.

WARSAW, November 7. Prince Martin Lubomirſki, after having, with his adherents, committed great exceſſes in the mountains of Hungary, has found means to get a manifeſto poſted up againſt ſeveral churches at Cracow, inviting the nation to a general revolt, and aſſuring them of the aſſiſtance and protection of the Porte, in virtue of a treaty, which he pretends to have concluded for that purpoſe. General Apraxin has cauſed the manifeſto to be pulled down, and has ſent it hither to the Ruſſian Ambaſſador.

BERLIN, October 22. They write from the frontiers of Poland, that the Confederates purſue the Diſſidents with more fury than ever; that they plunder their churches, and throw bibles, and other books of devotion, into the river: that at Zvehlin, a village near Conin, they ſeized the Sieur Majewſki, a proteſtant miniſter of about 70 years of age, dragged him to the church with a halter about his neck, and locked him up there.

PARIS, November 18. According to a letter from Corſica, dated the 31ſt of laſt month; the Marquis de Chauvelin, being deſirous of making Olmetta his head quarters, on the ſide of the province of Nebbio, he cauſed a detachment of four hundred men, one half grenadiers, and the other half hunters, to advance, with orders to attack that village with all poſſible vivacity; but the enterprize ſucceeded not, a large body of Malcontents running together, and obliging the detachment to retire. In the retreat, two French Captains were made priſoners, and four other officers mortally wounded. It was on this occaſion, and not on the 28th, that the Chevalier de Bethiſi, a very hopeful young officer, had the misfortune to loſe his life: It is probable, ſays this letter, that the Marquis de Chauvelin, will renounce his deſign upon Olmetta, and content himſelf with preſerving Oletta on one ſide, and Bygegia on the other. The ſame advices add, that a report prevailed, that Paoli had cauſed the ſieur John Mattei, one of his ſecretaries, to be ſtrangled, for having formed a deſign of carrying off his maſter, and delivering him to the French army; and that the father of this ſecretary had been deprived of his office of chancellor.

NEW-YORK, DECEMBER 19.

On Monday arrived the Sloop Charming Sally, Captain Ebenezer Durel, from the river Gambia, but laſt from St. Euſtatia. He left Gambia the 8th of October, and ſays the Trade there is greatly embarraſſed and interrupted by the hoſtile behaviour of the Natives, who make every attempt in their power to deſtroy the Engliſh, who are therefore obliged to arm their boats in an extraordinary manner, when they go a trading up and down the River. This behaviour of the Natives it ſeems is occaſioned by a difference that happened in January laſt, between his Excellency Joſeph Dr Batt, Governor of James's Fort, in that River, and the King of Barry.

The chief ground of this difference was, that the French having erected a Factory in Gambia on the oppoſite ſhore, and within gun ſhot of James's Fort, the Governor was ſo diſpleaſed thereat, that he refuſed to pay the King of Barry the Fees or Subſidies that have been eſtabliſhed by antient cuſtom, for permiſſion to trade, unleſs the King would deſtroy the French Factory, or oblige them to remove it. The King whoſe intereſts leads him to deſire ſubſidies from two kingdoms, rather than one, pleads his right to permit whom he pleaſes to trade in his dominions; and beſides that the French have by treaty, leave to erect a Factory there: And in reſentment for the ſtoppage of his cuſtomary ſubſidies, he declared War againſt the Engliſh, and has purſued it with the utmoſt animoſity. An attempt was made upon James's Fort, at a time when the Governor was abſent at Senegal, and there was ſuch a ſickneſs among the ſoldiers in the Fort, that there were no more than 17 men able to bear Arms, and the number of Savages was ſo great, that they almoſt covered the Iſland.—They came provided with ſcaling Ladders, got upon the embraſures, and would certainly have taken the Fort, had it not been for the extraordinary bravery, activity, and conduct of one Mr. Williams, an Engliſh gentleman, who headed and animated the ſoldiers, drove of the ſavages and ſaved the Fort.

CHARLES-TOWN, JANUARY 28.

AT the Court of General Seſſions, &c. begun to be holden on the 16th and ending on the 21ſt Inſtant, the following Perſons were convicted, viz.——Jeremiah Fouliſome, for robbing John Scott, (commonly called Ready Money Scott) and Abraham Stevens, for uttering Counterfeit Bills, and ſentenced to be hanged on Friday the 10th of February next.—John Ryan and Patrick Moore, for Petit-Larceny, ſentenced to be whipt on the firſt Tueſday in February next.—James Carter, for Horſe-ſtealing, ſentenced to looſe his right Ear, and to receive 39 Laſhes on the firſt Tueſday in February.—James Welch, for Perjury, to ſtand in the Pillory on the third Tueſday in February.—Philip Hart and Jacob Tobias, for receiving ſtolen Goods, both fined and impriſoned; and ſeveral others were alſo convicted of Aſſaults, &c.
